

HAND IT TO HER, SHE'LL GET IT ANYHOW

Don't dodge the issue when it comes to handing your wife money—it's dollars to a doughnut she will get your money if she has to sit up at night and watch your pockets—hand it right over. It is safer there in her hands than it is in yours, anyway. Leave it to the average woman to make money go as far as possible. There's one thing certain—she won't try to fatten a kitten with it in a poker game. Nor will she hand it over unless she gets value received. No, sir-ree, Bob. Very likely she will come to this store and pick out a suit of clothes for you, and your money will be dead safe in her hands—while if it you keep it—it won't keep—so hand over the money to your wife. Haven't got a wife? Go and get one. It is not good that man should be alone, but let the other fellows wife alone.

AUSTRALIANS FALL IN LOVE WITH HAWAII

Emphatically declaring that Hawaii has won a place in the hearts of Australians which cannot be otherwise filled, several visitors from the far Southeast who have been at the Moana Hotel for three weeks left home on the Niagara Wednesday.

Phyllis Poirier, chief clerk of the Moana, says he has never met a more congenial crowd nor heard more sincere tributes about the islands from residents of a country other than the United States.

"They are coming here more and more," he says, "until we count on Australia for a large part of our visitors. They are indulging in the best kind of advertising at home, personally telling their friends about us, and we have found that there are big results."

Mrs. H. Alexander and her two daughters, Miss Rose and Miss Myrtle Alexander, were so delighted with their first visit here that they engaged rooms for January, when they are coming back to stay a month.

Mr. Albert Duckett and daughter, Miss T. Duckett, said before leaving that Americans, especially in Hawaii, have a delightful knack of entertaining guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Davis wanted to be especially remembered as candidates for the "Come-Back" Club. They were from Hobart, Australia. Miss Millie Jones, from the same place, was equally enthusiastic.

Louis J. O'Rourke and George Gould, traveling together from Sydney, said they were not leaving Hawaii behind. It lingers with them.

None of the Australians were enamored by the islands more than Miss Neta V. R. Clarke and Miss Viola Dickson of Melbourne, who spent about $20 in cable messages in an effort to obtain permission to stay here longer than the three weeks. But parents were obdurate and home they went, with moist eyes smiling towards Waikiki as the Niagara backed away from the pier.

"We'll come back next year, and stay as long as we wish, you bet," declared one. "Three weeks seems like a day here."

COWS GIVEN AN APPETITE WITH RED BEET COCKTAIL

MARQUETTE, Mich.—Cows have their hopes and ambitions like human beings, and when they go to their meals they should be fed in courses with a cocktail as an appetizer and a dessert for the finish.

This is the assertion of Senator Altan Roberts of this city, who is looking after the welfare of a fancy dairy. "Several years ago one of my men tried phonographic music as a means of inducing the cows to give more and better milk. For a time the soothing tones brought results, but after a while the cows became tired of the music and we began to experiment on other things."

The senator is not feeding alcohol to his cattle. Instead he is using the red table beet as an appetizer.

MOTHER OF 13 HAS TRIPLETS AND TWINS IN YEAR

GREENWICH, Conn.—A remarkable record for child birth has been established by Mrs. Julius Colsenki of this city. The woman is 27 years old and is the mother of thirteen children, eight of whom are dead. About seven months ago triplets were born at the Colsenki domicile and the stork the other day dropped in twins. "The triplets lived for several days, but the twins lived only a few hours. The mother is in the best of health."

SHIPS AND MEN GET MONEY FOR SALVAGE WORK

Federal Court Clerk has $1195 to Pay Out in Ancient Case of Celtic Chief

One thousand, one hundred and ninety-five dollars and seventy-two cents is waiting in the office of the clerk of the federal court to be paid to officers and men of the various steamers of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company.

The payment of this money is expected to bring to a final close the ancient case of the steamship company against the British ship Celtic Chief, which was a action for the recovery of money due the company for salvage. The court found for the steamship company in the sum of $17,000, but this amount was reduced to $11,053 by costs and other charges.

Following are the persons and vessels to which the money now in the clerk's hands will be paid:

To Mauna Kea $42.30, crew $87.26; to Helene $51.48, crew $119; to Like-like $13.64, crew $62.84; to Mikahala $45.57, crew $158.66; to stevedores, $583.25; to Capt. T. K. Clarke, $31.27; to Capt. J. F. Haglund, $189.79; to Capt. A. Tullett, $94.89; to Capt. H. Nelson, $94.89; to Mate George E. Plitz, $56.93; to Capt. M. Naopala, $28.47.

TEN SEAMEN OF TRANSPORT GO INTO BRIG

When the U. S. army transport Sheridan backed away from Navy Pier No. 2 and sailed for San Francisco at 10 o'clock this morning her brig contained what could best be described as a "hot house."

The aforesaid ship's jail was filled with 10 members of the transport's crew, merchant marine seamen who had signed on at San Francisco for one round trip from San Francisco to Manila.

The men tried to break cholera quarantine late Thursday afternoon, as previously reported by the Star-Bulletin. They were forced back to the transport by the military guards after they had passed the quartermaster and all but gained the street.

After they had been taken back to the ship the men demanded to be paid off. Their request was denied because of the quarantine against the crew. This morning they refused to work, so into the brig they were put. They will get a chance to air their troubles in San Francisco before the shipping commissioner, because being civilians and not enlisted men, they come under the jurisdiction of the Seamen's Act.

According to Dr. F. E. Trotter, chief quarantine officer, the Sheridan trouble reveals a serious defect in the Seamen's Act. Had it not been for the cholera quarantine regulations the transport's officers would have been required by the act to pay off the sailors here when they requested it, although their services might have been needed badly for the remainder of the voyage.

The law provides that seamen can demand to be paid off at any American port touched at during the voyage, although they signed on for a round trip. The ship cannot discharge the men unless they commit some offense. "In other words, the contract is binding on the ship but not on the men," said Dr. Trotter. "The law should be amended to give shipowners a square deal in this regard."

Monday morning, an hour before the Pacific Mail liner Ecuador sailed, six sailors demanded to be paid off, regardless of whether anyone could be secured here to take their places.

TIME IS NEAR FOR PAYMENT OF ASSESSMENTS

Monday, September 11, is the last day that residents in the Beach Walk district may pay their assessments for the frontage improvement work, which is expected to begin within a few weeks. If the first instalment is not paid on that date an extra assessment of one per cent per month will be levied against the property holders.

Just when the work will commence depends on the amount of cement on hand. There has been a great scarcity of cement since the longshoremen's strike in San Francisco which tied up shipments, and as a result a number of street improvements have been delayed.

Fourteen autoists were arrested near West Hartford, Conn., within one day for speeding and other violations of the automobile law.

COUSIN OF MARK TWIN TO TALK ON HAWAII NEI

Mark Twain's cousin, Miss Mildred Clemens, intends to open a series of mainland travel lectures with a travelog on Hawaii, according to information which has been received by Director A. P. Taylor of the Promotion Committee.

Hawaii was one of the beloved Mark Twain's first fields of newspaper activity, back in the '60s, and his prose poems on the islands now form one of the Promotion Committee's most effective publicity features.

Miss Clemens, says a letter received by Director Taylor from C. J. Hutchins, a former Honolulu now president of the California Unit Farms Company of San Francisco, will soon write the Promotion Committee for data concerning her proposed lecture.

The young woman, who is an intimate friend of Hutchins' daughter, both graduating from the same class at the University of California, has given some highly successful lectures on the Yosemite Valley for the Southern Pacific Company.

the governor, for that is not so. As I understand it, the committee which visited the governor was not representing the party but was acting upon its own initiative."

Lincoln L. ("Link") McCandless, Democratic candidate for delegate, says that the Bourbons in Hawaii are working together, and that the interview with the governor was not suggested by the party, so far as he knows.

"We have nothing to show that the governor is a Democrat," says the Bourbon leader. "The Democrats to some extent have been in the minority and in need of all the Democrats it could get. But not to the extent that we will humiliate the party for that support."

"The governor has not shown a disposition to work with the party or

At this meeting, he says, a resolution was passed authorizing the committee, later appointed, to see party leaders, including McCandless and the governor, with a view to having a "harmony" meeting. About 20 persons attended the first meeting. Among those present were Iola Kinkahi, Jesse Uluihi, editor of Aloha Aina, and B. N. Kahalepuna, a member of the county committee, he adds.

The Pauahi street Democrats at the meeting, he continues, did not want members of the central or county committee on the special committee. "We were not authorized by the party as a whole to visit the governor or anyone else, as the party as a whole did not come to the meeting," concludes the committeeman.

A "harmony" meeting finally was held in Phoenix hall, McCandless, Harry Irwin and C. J. McCarthy being among the speakers.
